

SYNEX RENEWABLE ENERGY CORPORATION

Synex Renewable Energy Corp., (TSX: SXI) is an independent Canadian renewable power producer. It develops, acquires, and operates renewable energy facilities. The Company generates revenue from three run of river power plants and one power line network in British Columbia dating back to 1981 and is listed on the TSX since 1987.

The company was founded by engineers and is now managed by business professionals with a passion for purposeful investments in Green Renewable Energy Projects.

Synex possesses over 5,000MW of Investigative wind licenses that are under various stages of development in British Columbia. Most of these sites were staked back to the early 2000's when wind power was in its infancy.

Synex owns and operates 3 run-of-river power plants totaling 10MW of installed capacity in BC with EPA's with BC Hydro, with an historic construction cost of over $7,000,000
